Abstract

This project being the studying project is about reducing the waste in AC Solenoid Department of Panasonic Refrigeration Devices Thailand Co., Ltd. Quality control and Toyota Production System are brought to be the guide in order that finding the cause and solving the waste's problem that occur in the production's process by learning from employees' working, working's process, and production's process. Those things are applied and developed in production's process of this company so as to be more efficiency and effectiveness.

Keywords: Quality Control / Toyota Production System / Efficiency / Effectiveness